ABOUT GCDR

The workshop deals with Conflict and Dispute Resolution (CDR) at three levels : International, Domestic/State and Individual. There are various methods of peaceful management of Conflicts and Disputes: direct negotiation among the parties, various forms of mediation, good offices, and conciliation; and binding methods of third-party intervention (arbitration and adjudication). Each of these methods has its own advantages and disadvantages. This Workshop is intended to analyze the scope of Mediation in Conflict and Dispute Resolution, its unique features and how mediation can contribute to resolve conflicts and disputes and prevent their escalation at all these three levels. For the workshop, we have invited speakers from around 8 time zones. We are collaborating with mediators, lawyers, academicians, and entrepreneurs from a wide range of countries including Canada, USA, UK, South Africa, Netherlands, India, and Australia. Apart from interaction with these highly skilled speakers, the workshop also offers:
