ABOUT THE COMPETITION

Right to Life is one of the basic as well as fundamental right without which other rights cannot be enjoyed. But, if the person has a right to life, the question arises whether the same person can also exercise his right to die. Especially during the pandemic, we have noticed an enormous death toll in India during the second wave. Hundreds of unaccounted corpses had been found in the river Ganga which have been burned and buried without any cremation rituals. Hence, in the present time, it is very important for us to evaluate whether the Indian Citizens can exercise the right to die with dignity.
