The Multi-Dimensions of Justice:
Law and beyond

From

18- 23 JULY 2022

IILM Law School Gurugram is proud to announce that it is organizing One Week Multi-Disciplinary Faculty Development Program (FDP) on The Multi-Dimensions of Justice: Law & Beyond from 18th July -23rd July 2022.

The legal profession is dynamic in nature and it is not what it was a decade ago. Interdisciplinary study allows for synthesis of ideas and characteristics from many disciplines. This interplay of various disciplines plays an important role in the field of law. Thus, legal profession can't operate in isolation. By obtaining a clear understanding of distinct problems with roots in multiple disciplines requires the capacity to integrate ideas and this skill is advanced by interdisciplinary learning.

Today, Lawyers and academicians are bent towards blended learning and research with other disciplines is witnessed. It is often believed that the one who studies law with other allied subjects has an edge in developing cognitive skills and advanced critical analytical thinking as it certainly helps to open up new areas and look across boundaries to consider different viewpoints. Such approach not only motivates the learner but also guides him to pursue topics in which he/she has vested interest. As a result, the learning becomes purposeful and meaningful since one is able to relate law with real-world context having its wings spread out in various other multi-dimensional disciplines.
