Track PC Chairs: Valentina Janev (The Mihajlo Pupin Institute, Belgrade, Serbia) Cogan Shimizu (Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio, United States)	Track PC Chairs: Fatmana Şentürk (Pamukkale University, Turkey) Jyoti Grover (MNIT Jaipur, India)	Track PC Chairs: Archana Patel (National Forensic Sciences University, India) Atef Shalan (Georgia Southern University, United States)

- All accepted and presented papers will be included in proceedings published in the Springer LNEE series (approval awaited). Selected papers will be invited for extension and submission to SCIE/SCOPUS/WoS-indexed journals.
- Indexing: Post conference, Springer LNEE proceedings will be available at the following indexing services DBLP, EI Compendex, INSPEC, Japanese Science and Technology Agency (JST), SCImago, SCOPUS, WTI Frankfurt eG, zbMATH. Source: <https://www.springer.com/series/7818>

* Important Dates: ****

Full-length Papers in all tracks of main conference Jul 31, 2023
 Paper notifications in all tracks of main conference Aug 20, 2023
 End of Early Bird Registration for main conference Aug 31, 2023

* Tracks: ****

The Research Track: The Research Track includes papers that present novel work that significantly contributes to the advancement of Semantic Intelligence. Submissions should include a list of research gaps as well as research contributions that fill those gaps. A section comparing the research findings to existing benchmarks is highly desirable.

The Trends and Perspectives Track: The Trends and Perspectives Track explores the state of the art in the mentioned disciplines.

The Applications and Deployment Track: Any research that is applied in real-world use cases increases its visibility. This track invites applications for applied semantic intelligence. Aside from real-world examples, the Applications and Deployment Track welcomes Resources such as vocabularies, datasets, evaluation benchmarks, and software.

* Previous Conferences ****
