

CELS Global Conference, Brazil 2024

São Paulo - June 5-7 2024

Call for papers

The 2024 Conference on Empirical Legal Studies (CELS) is now accepting submissions. CELS will consider empirical papers spanning all areas of empirical legal studies. Authors are encouraged to submit works-in-progress; however, submissions should be completed drafts that include principal results. Submitted papers must be unpublished (and expected to be unpublished at the time of the conference).

The Early Paper Submission Deadline is Thursday, December 28, 2023 (11:59 PM UTC-3:00), with decisions on January 3, 2024. The Regular Paper Submission will be opened from 29 December, 2023 until 31 January, 2024 (11:59 PM UTC-3:00), with decisions on February 23, 2024. There is no charge for submissions. Papers not chosen in the early review will be automatically directed for further evaluation in the Regular Submission round.

To submit a paper, please visit <https://ceoe.org.br/cels-brazil-2024/>.

Papers are selected through a peer review process. If accepted, authors will have an opportunity to submit a revised draft prior to the conference for presentation and discussion. Discussion at the conference includes assigned commentators and audience questions. Accepted papers will be made available to all conference participants.

About: The Centro de Estudos da Ordem Econômica (CEOE) and the Society for Empirical Legal Studies (SELS) are pleased to host the Conference on Empirical Legal Studies (CELS) Global Brazil on June 5-7, 2024, in person at the CEOE building (Federal University of São Paulo, Quitaúna Campus, São Paulo). CELS is an interdisciplinary gathering that draws researchers from across the United States and the world, bringing together scholars in law, economics, political science, psychology, and other fields who are interested in the empirical analysis of law and legal institutions.

If you have questions about the submissions process, please contact the conference organizers at cels2024@ceoe.org.br.
