INDIAN REVIEW OF AIR AND SPACE LAW

Published by the Centre for Research in Air and Space Laws, Maharashtra National Law
University Mumbai

About the Journal

INDIAN REVIEW OF AIR AND SPACE LAW published by the Centre for Research in Air and Space Laws, MNU Mumbai aims to provide a unique forum for practitioners, regulators, policymakers and academics who deal with international, regional and national aviation and space law and policy. It is an academically led peer-reviewed academic review that aims to publish high-quality scholarship on air and space law spanning all areas including comparative, international and multidisciplinary perspectives.

The journal will also carry review essays and occasionally, round tables or research notes discussing various topical issues of air and space law. With its distinctive combination of conceptual, theoretical and practical approaches to the issues of law, the Review aims to offer readers a unique opportunity to stay in touch with the latest developments in this rapidly evolving area of air and space. As part of its commitment to social and critical engagement in legal scholarship, the review will also publish book reviews. Book reviews, consonant with the journal's aims and scope, are also reviewed by our Academic Editors.

Peer Review Policy

All research articles in this journal will undergo rigorous peer review. This process involves initial screening by the editorial board, followed by refereeing by at least two double-blind reviews by experts in the field.
