

International Conference on

Exploring Media, Law & AI in Post-Truth Era: An Evolving Ecosystem

Introduction

Woxsen University has recently established the School of Liberal Arts and Humanities and the School of Law, aiming to cultivate critical thinking among students through interdisciplinary education, skill-based learning, and socially conscious initiatives. The primary objective is to foster academic freedom and nurture an intellectual environment that champions diversity, inclusion, and a global perspective.

In line with these principles, the School of Liberal Arts and Humanities and the School of Law are gearing up to host an international conference, which will be conducted in a hybrid format.

Theme of the Conference

The conference titled "Examining Media, Law & AI in the Post-Truth Era: An Evolving Landscape" seeks to delve into the intricate connection between media and law in today's context. With the rapid evolution of technology and shifting societal norms, the intersection of media and law has grown increasingly complex. Moreover, the dynamic progress of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and its swift integration into media and law has fundamentally reshaped thinking in this technologically advanced post-truth era. This conference serves as a platform for scholars, practitioners, policymakers, and industry professionals to participate in critical dialogues, exchange insights, and explore emerging trends and challenges in this dynamic field.

Conference Format

The conference will showcase keynote presentations, panel discussions, paper presentations, and interactive workshops. Esteemed experts and influential figures from academia, legal practice, media organizations, and regulatory bodies will offer their perspectives and insights on diverse facets of media and law.

Call for Papers

Researchers, scholars, media professionals, and academics from diverse fields such as Journalism & Mass Communication, Law, Development Studies, Women's Studies, Political Science, Sociology, Psychology, English Literature, among others, are encouraged to submit abstracts for paper presentations on topics related to the conference themes, which include but are not limited to:
