

British Journal of Canadian Studies

Open Call for Submissions:

British Journal of Canadian Studies (BJCS) is published twice-yearly by Liverpool University Press on behalf of the British Association for Canadian Studies. Launched over thirty years ago, BJCS is broad-based, multidisciplinary, and international, welcoming contributions from all areas of the arts and humanities and the economic and social sciences.

BJCS is committed to publishing research and scholarship on the analysis of Canadian issues, spanning wide-ranging historical and contemporary concerns and interests, as well as varied aspects of domestic, provincial, national, international and global significance.

BJCS welcomes articles that deal directly or through a comparative frame with Canada's experiences, place and role in the wider English or French speaking worlds. Its prime objective is to further knowledge, discussion and understanding of Canada's diverse experiences, peoples, places, perspectives and priorities in past and contemporary contexts. Literature reviews and shorter articles on teaching and learning related topics are also welcome. There is normally one general issue and one themed issue each year although this may vary.

Please send submissions and all editorial correspondence to the Co-Editors:

Maeve Conrick at maeve.conrick@ucd.ie and Tracie Scott at Tracie.Scott@hw.ac.uk.

For further information on how to prepare a submission, download British Journal of Canadian Studies Guidelines for Contributors/Guide destiné aux Auteurs.

Language Editing Services

Liverpool University Press partners with Enago to offer English editing services to authors around the world. Enago's service can help to improve the quality of manuscripts submitted to the journal, especially authors for whom English is not the first language. Please see here for more information.

Publication Fees

This journal is a hybrid journal. There is no charge to authors wishing to publish in the journal and it operates on a standard subscription model.

Peer Review Policy

All articles published in the journal (including in any special issues) are subject to peer-review by objective experts in the field, prior to the acceptance by the journal editor(s). The journal employs a double-anonymous review (anonymity strictly observed between author and reviewer).

For further information on the ethics we ask our journal editors, authors, and reviewers to adhere to, please visit LUP's Code of Conduct.