About ICGCV-2024

The International Conference on Global Criminology and Victimology (ICGCV) – 2024 is a multidisciplinary event that unites scholars, practitioners, policymakers, and experts from across the globe to deliberate and exchange ideas on various facets of crime, victimisation, and justice systems globally. This conference seeks to revitalise core principles by reflecting on the foundational pillars of Criminology and Victimology, ensuring their relevance and adaptability to contemporary Indian society. The significance of this conference is immense to safeguard and reinforce Criminology and Victimology as essential disciplines within India's academic and law enforcement realms. Our vision extends beyond borders as we aim for international collaborations that influence and inspire students and research scholars worldwide. The conference provides a platform for researchers and professionals to present their latest findings, share insights, and engage in meaningful discussions that contribute to advancing knowledge and practices in the field.

Who can participate in ICGCV-2024?

The International Conference on Global Criminology and Victimology warmly welcomes academicians, researchers, practitioners, professionals, and students involved in the fields of Criminology, Victimology, and Criminal Justice, as well as those with a keen interest in these disciplines. This conference is a valuable platform for fostering robust discussions and the exchange of innovative ideas. With its central theme of 'Global Alliances in Indian Criminology and Victimology,' we are excited to host eight esteemed international speakers who will address various topics at the conference. We anticipate a significant number of participants, which will create excellent opportunities for networking, engaging discussions, and productive collaborations for students and academics.

Guidelines for Abstract Submission

Abstracts must be submitted on or before 15 June 2024. Abstracts submitted after this date will be rejected directly without any reviews.

1. Abstracts must be submitted online via the link provided below.
2. The submission must include a title, abstract, keywords and author information
3. Abstracts should be structured and concise, typically containing objectives, methods, results, and conclusions. Although not all abstracts will conform to this format, they should all contain enough information to frame the problem and orient the conclusions.
4. The abstract text should not exceed 300 words.
5. The abstract submitted can only have maximum of three authors.
6. The authors will receive the abstract review result on or before 25 June 2024.
7. Please ensure that the submitted abstracts are original works and have not been previously published or presented elsewhere.
8. Please refrain from submitting papers that are purely descriptive or merely provide an overview of a topic. Originality is highly valued, so avoid any form of plagiarism in your abstract.

Student Best Paper Awards

The Student Best Paper Awards will be presented to recognise the two most outstanding research papers submitted by students and research scholars in the fields of Criminology, Victimology, and related subjects. Submissions for this category must be from individuals aged below 30 years. Papers should present the results of empirical research studies conducted within the themes and sub-themes of the conferences over the past five years. The recipient of the first Student Best Paper Award will receive a £125 book voucher, while the second-best paper will be awarded a £75 book voucher, both sponsored by the Prestigious Bristol University Press, UK.

Publication Opportunities

The prestigious Bristol University Press, UK, has expressed an interest in publishing some of the best papers from the conference as an edited book volume following the conclusion of the event. Authors will receive invitations to submit their full papers shortly after the conference concludes. The conference committee will provide additional information regarding publication requirements in due course, enabling interested authors to commence work on their full papers well in advance. The selection of papers will be based on the originality and quality of the research presented at the conference, ensuring that only the most impactful contributions are showcased within the edited volume.

About RV University

RV University (RVU) is a new-age University in Bengaluru, recognised by the Government of Karnataka and the University Grants Commission (UGC). It is a State Private University under the RV University Act, 2019. The University is managed by the Rashtreeya Sikshana Samithi Trust (RSST), which also runs 25 other education institutions, with a renowned legacy of excellence in higher education for over eight decades. The Missions of RSST and RV University is “Excellence in Education with Societal Commitment”.

Centre for Victimological Research and Victim Assistance

The Centre for Victimological Research & Victim Assistance (CVRVA) was launched on 29 November 2022 at RV University to advance its purposes of research, awareness building, and training, in the areas concerning Victimology, victim assistance, and victim justice. Victimology as an interdisciplinary field is continually evolving in India and globally. Research has contributed significantly to the “knowledge base” and the development of some of the best practices in victim services. However, there remains a sizable gap between research and practice in victim services. There is a growing need for Victimology resource centres that can narrow the research–practice gap through quality research, awareness building, and training. CVRVA envisions narrowing this gap.

About our Partners

University of East London

The University of East London (UEL), located in the heart of one of the UK's most dynamic and diverse areas, has been a beacon of innovation and inclusivity since its inception in 1898. With modern campuses in Stratford and the Docklands, UEL offers a wide array of undergraduate, postgraduate, and professional courses across various disciplines. Known for its forward-thinking approach, UEL is committed to delivering an educational experience that equips students for the challenges of a rapidly evolving world. Boasting a vibrant community of over 120 nationalities, UEL fosters a rich, multicultural learning environment. The university places a strong emphasis on research, innovation, and addressing global challenges, particularly in sustainability, health, and social justice. Students benefit from state-of-the-art facilities, comprehensive support services, and opportunities for practical experience and community engagement. By nurturing critical thinking, creativity, and leadership skills, UEL aims to prepare its graduates to be effective change-makers in their respective fields.

The Policing Innovation, Enterprise and Learning Centre (PIEL), UEL

The Policing Innovation, Enterprise and Learning Centre (PIEL) at the University of East London epitomises the forefront of Criminal Justice education, research, and practical engagement. This initiative is tailored to revolutionise policing and public safety strategies by integrating technological advancements, psychological insights, and sociological perspectives. PIEL's mission is rooted in fostering experiential learning and innovation, bridging the gap between academic inquiry and real-world application. Situated within a university celebrated for its commitment to societal impact and inclusivity, the centre offers a unique platform for students, law enforcement professionals, and community partners to collaborate on pioneering solutions to contemporary policing challenges. By leveraging state-of-the-art facilities and interdisciplinary approaches, PIEL aims to enhance community safety, promote justice, and prepare future leaders in the field. Through strategic partnerships and a focus on sustainable enterprise, PIEL not only contributes to the advancement of policing practices but also reflects the University of East London's dedication to driving positive change in society and the Criminal Justice system.

British Society of Criminology

CRITICAL CRIMINOLOGY NETWORK

The British Society of Criminology (BSC) stands as a pivotal organisation within the United Kingdom, dedicated to fostering a profound and comprehensive understanding of Criminology as a field of study. Established with the aim of promoting criminological scholarship, research, education, and practice, the BSC serves as a vital nexus for academics, practitioners, and students who are engaged in the critical examination of crime, criminal behaviour, and the Criminal Justice system. Through its activities, the Society seeks to influence public debate and policymaking in the realm of crime and justice, advocating for evidence-based approaches to crime prevention and Criminal Justice administration. The BSC organises conferences, seminars, and workshops that provide a forum for the dissemination of new research findings, theoretical developments, and methodological innovations. It also publishes a range of academic resources, including the esteemed journal 'Criminology & Criminal Justice,' which contributes significantly to the field's body of knowledge. By facilitating dialogue and collaboration among its diverse membership, the British Society of Criminology plays a crucial role in shaping the future direction of criminological research and practice in the UK and beyond.

Critical Criminology Network of British Society of Criminology

The Critical Criminology Network, part of the British Society of Criminology (BSC), is a dynamic collective focusing on critical and radical approaches to understanding crime, harm, and justice. This network serves as a critical forum for scholars, practitioners, and students keen on exploring the deeper socio-political dimensions of Criminology, beyond traditional perspectives. It emphasises the exploration of how crime is socially constructed, the influence of state and corporate power, and the pervasive effects of inequality and systemic bias within Criminal Justice systems. Open to members at various career stages, the Critical Criminology Network encourages interdisciplinary collaboration and strives to promote social justice and transformative change within the Criminal Justice system and broader society. Through its activities, it plays a vital role in challenging orthodoxies in Criminology and advocating for a more equitable approach to understanding and addressing crime and punishment.
