

UPPSALA - SOUTH ASIAN UNIVERSITY INVESTMENT ARBITRATION BOOTCAMP

UPPSALA - SOUTH ASIAN UNIVERSITY INVESTMENT
ARBITRATION BOOTCAMP - GATEWAY TO A GLOBAL CAREER

26TH AUGUST 2024 – 30TH AUGUST 2024, HOSTED AT THE SOUTH ASIAN UNIVERSITY, NEW DELHI, INDIA.

The INVESTMENT ARBITRATION BOOTCAMP provides intensive learning in the rapidly growing area of international investment Arbitration. You will gain advanced and detailed knowledge and highly practical skills in the field of international investment law and arbitration. Over the past decade, the field of investment treaty arbitrations has experienced a significant surge. With nearly 3,000 bilateral investment protection treaties and two major multilateral investment protection treaties, it is foreseeable that this trend will persist. Furthermore, the European Union (EU) is expected to play an increasingly prominent role in investment protection matters, encompassing investment treaty arbitration or equivalent forms of dispute settlement, making it imperative for students from geographies beyond the region to be aware of the EU law in this knowledge domain. This trajectory implies a rising demand for legal professionals possessing a profound understanding of international investment law. Entities engaged in international investment and trade, spanning law firms, government agencies, financial institutions, corporations, and non-governmental organizations (NGOs), will seek professionals with specialized knowledge - a demand that this pioneering programme is strategically positioned to address.

BOOTCAMP COURSE STRUCTURE

Module 1: General introduction to international investment law

The first module provides you with a general introduction to international arbitration. This module covers all the basic principles and rules of mainly commercial arbitration, which historically served as a role model for investment arbitration. You will discuss and analyze, for example, the arbitration agreement, the appointment of arbitrators, procedural issues, applicable law and enforcement of arbitral awards.

Module 2: Taxonomy in international investment law

The second module will focus on taxonomy in international investment law, in particular the terms of “Investment” and “Investor”/ “Nationality”.

Module 3: Substantive standards of protection

The third module will focus on the protection of foreign investments under public international law. The relevant sources relate to treaties (i.e. bilateral and multilateral investment protection treaties) and customary international law. One important aspect of this module is treaty interpretation based on the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties.

Module 4: Dispute settlement in international investment law

The fourth module will illuminate the traditions of the Investor-State Dispute Settlement and provide an outlook on Intra-EU Investment Arbitration (CJEU's Achmea decision, C-284/16) and its repercussions.

Module 5: Recent trends and debates in international investment law

The fifth module will make the Investor-State Dispute Settlement (ISDS) mechanism and its legitimacy crisis subject of discussion. It will shed light on the role of national law in augmenting accountability of foreign investors under IIAs. Furthermore, it will focus on substantive aspects in the evolution of International Investment Agreements (IIAs), particularly the question: Securing States' Regulator Freedom over Investor Protection? Ultimately, the realities of ISDS in terms of time, costs and expertise will be discussed.
