About Moot Court Competition-2024

A moot court competition simulates a court hearing (usually an appeal against a final decision), in which participants analyze a problem, research the relevant law, prepare written submissions, and present oral arguments. Moot problems are typically set in areas of law that are unsettled or that have been subject to recent developments. They usually involve two grounds of appeal, argued by each side. The procedure imitates what is followed in real courts: the judge enters, the mooters and the judge bow to each other, the clerk announces the matter, the mooters give their appearances and are then called on in turn to present their submissions, the judge asks questions to the mooters, the court adjourns, and the judge then returns to deliver a brief judgment and some feedback to the mooters. Mooting is not the same as public speaking or debating, although it shares some common elements with these activities. It is a specialized application of the art of persuasive advocacy. It has been part of the process of training lawyers for centuries and plays an important role in legal education. In this Moot Court Competition-2024, various teams of mooters will participate from undergraduate programs of Law and Forensic Science. Each team shall comprise of minimum of 2 & maximum of 3 students as mooters and researchers.

MOOT PROBLEM

The Republic of INDUS is a peaceful nation with laws and customs similar to India. The State of Mahikavati is a state in this country, and within it lies a city called Mumba. Ms. Rabia, a 16-year-old Muslim girl, is young, smart and beautiful. She is currently in the 11th standard from a medical background. As a studious student from a young age, she focuses solely on her studies and is not easily distracted by events. One day, the school where she was studying, organised a science seminar and invited various eminent speakers. Mr. Daniel, a Christian boy aged 28 years was also invited as a guest speaker because of his extraordinary achievements in the medical science field. Ms. Rabia also attended the seminar and was impressed by Mr. Daniel's enthralling speech, professional communication skills, and extensive knowledge of medical sciences, Ms. Rabia began to imagine him as her role model.

Additionally, drawn by his charm and personality, Ms. Rabia approached Mr. Daniel seeking guidance for her further studies. She managed to secure his contact number through the pamphlets distributed during the seminar. On the following day, she called him to seek guidance in the medical profession and praised him for his exceptionally appealing personality and communication skills. Impressed by her confidence at such a young age, Mr. Daniel thanked her for the compliment and provided effective guidance for her future endeavours in the medical field. Soon, Ms. Rabia frequently contacted Mr. Daniel for various reasons. Their relationship evolved from that of a guide and student to a friendship, marked by coffee dates, long drives, and sharing secrets over two months. Eventually, Ms. Rabia confessed her feelings to Mr. Daniel. Although Mr. Daniel was initially hesitant due to the age difference, he was charismatic by her beauty and happily accepted her proposal. Their friendship then developed into a romantic relationship. Once the relationship was no longer a secret, Ms. Rabia's parents began to object. With each passing day, Ms. Rabia became more determined to marry Mr. Daniel, who fully supported her decision. Despite several attempts by Ms. Rabia's parents to make her understand the adverse consequences of the relationship and warnings if she didn't heed them, their efforts were futile. Ms. Rabia's parents also threatened Mr. Daniel to stay away from their daughter, but their efforts were in vain. One day, Ms. Rabia voluntarily eloped with Mr. Daniel.

They went directly to a church and solemnized their marriage according to Christian Rituals. Fearing a threat to their lives from Ms. Rabia's family, the couple sought legal advice. Their counsel Mr. Bahl advised them to file a writ petition under Article 226 read with Article 21 of the Indus Constitution in the jurisdiction of the Hon'ble High Court of Mahikavati. The case was listed, and the matter was called up for hearing. Mr. Bahl, representing the petitioners, argued before the Hon'ble High Court and prayed for directions to the concerned Superintendent of Police. He also pleaded that without such relief, the couple might become victims of honour killing. In his petition, Mr. Bahl included photographs of their marriage ceremony at the church. He further asserted that Ms. Rabia, one of the petitioners, is a Muslim governed by Muslim Personal Law. According to this law, puberty and majority are considered the same, and it is presumed that a person governed by Muslim Law reaches majority at 14 years of age. Since Ms. Rabia has reached puberty, she is legally free to marry anyone of her choice, and her decision should not be interfered with. Hence, they are validly married to each other and are seeking protection. Further, the Court held that the danger to the life of the couple was real and being a constitutional Court addressed their apprehension and passed the order issuing directions to the Superintendent of Police for the protection of their fundamental right of their Life and Liberty under Article 21 of the Indus Constitution, while refraining from commenting on the validity of their marriage. The Court also observed that despite the couple marrying against their family members' wishes, they could not be deprived of the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution, as it is the grundnorm. The Court granted the contentious relief without assessing the evidentiary value of the documents submitted. It also clarified that this Order should not be interpreted as preventing any legal action against the petitioners for violating other laws.

Additionally, the Hon'ble High Court granted custody of Ms Rabia to Mr. Daniel. Following this Order, the couple began living together. After six months, the couple started having persistent arguments over various issues. These ongoing conflicts and the strained relationship took a mentally drained Ms. Rabia. Feeling frustrated, she chose to return to her parents, who were always ready to welcome her back alone. Mr. Daniel made no efforts to reconcile, rendering the marriage effectively meaningless.

Following her parents' advice and realizing her mistake, Ms Rabia decided to end this marriage. She along with her parents approached the police to lodge an FIR against Mr. Daniel, as she now believed that Mr. Daniel took the benefit of her adolescence. An FIR was registered under Sec 363 and Sec 376 IPC, Sec 3 and Sec 4 of POCSO, and Sec 9 & Sec 10 of the Child Marriage Prohibition Act. Following this FIR, a medical examination of Ms Rabia was conducted at a Govt. Medical College and the doctor gave his expert opinion that the possibility of attempted sexual intercourse cannot be ruled out.

Mr Daniel came to know about all the proceedings that were being initiated against him through a common friend and approached Mr Bahl again for his legal advice to protect him against the penal consequences who in return, filed on his behalf an Anticipatory Bail Application which was denied by the District and Session Court. Thereafter, he moved to the Hon'ble High Court which allowed his Anticipatory Bail Application. Mr Bahl on behalf of Mr Daniel moved another Application under Sec 482 of Cr.P.C for quashing of FIR which was registered by the police on the instance of Ms Rabia against him, before the Hon'ble High Court of Mahikavati. The petitioner's counsel argued that the estranged couple was living together as husband and wife based on the Orders of this Hon'ble High Court, which had granted custody of Ms. Rabia to Mr. Daniel. In his final arguments, the petitioner's counsel, Mr. Bahl, contended that the FIR should be quashed in light of these Orders.

He also challenged the charges against his client, citing the same Orders. However, the Hon'ble High Court rejected the petition to quash the FIR, emphasizing that their previous Order, which protected the petitioner, did not shield them from any legal action for offences under other statutes. Disheartened and aggrieved by this decision, Mr. Daniel decided to challenge the Order of the Hon'ble High Court of Mahikavati before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of Indus. The Hon'ble Supreme Court of Indus after considering the gravity of the issue and the absence of any specific legislation, decided to frame guidelines for handling such cases. Consequently, it granted the petitioner. Notices were issued to the relevant parties.

The respective counsels are expected to submit their considerations on the following issues:

1. Whether the Special Leave to Petition under Article 136 of the Indus Constitution is maintainable before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of Indus or not?
2. Whether the order of the Hon'ble High Court of Mahikavati granting the custody of the prosecutrix to the accused & protecting the fundamental right of an estranged couple under Article 21 of the Indus Constitution justified or not?
3. Whether the FIR against Mr Daniel liable to be quashed or not?
4. Whether the Hon'ble High Court, under Article 21 of the Indus Constitution, indirectly promoted child marriage?
5. Whether in such cases personal law will prevail over special law?

Note: All Laws of Republic of Indus are in Pari Materia as to the laws of India.
