

CESAH & AJEI Joint workshop

The Association Jeunes Études Indiennes (AJEI) and the Centre for South Asian and Himalayan Studies (CESAH) are pleased to invite submissions for their next Doctoral Seminar, to be held on 13 February 2025 at Campus Condorcet, Paris. This unique day provides PhD students working in the field of South Asian and Himalayan studies a platform to showcase their research and engage the conversation with senior scholars from multiple disciplines. Therefore, this meeting is an opportunity to :

- Explore emerging trends, niche studies, and innovative methodologies in Indian Studies ;
- Assess the interests and key topics of the moment to guide the future trajectory of the association ;
- Promote diversity, inclusion, and interdisciplinarity while embracing AJEI and CESAHA's long-standing values of collaboration and scholarly exchange.

We invite abstracts on any topic relevant to Indian Studies, including but not limited to:

- Ongoing or completed research projects.
- Fieldwork insights and innovative methodologies.
- Contemporary societal, cultural, political, or historical issues in India or South Asia.

This event is open to:

- PhD students affiliated with CESAHA ;
- Members of the Association Jeunes Études Indiennes (AJEI): current and future one. Participation requires an active AJEI membership. Non-members are encouraged to subscribe or update their membership to be eligible at the following link:
<https://www.helloasso.com/associations/association-jeunes-etudes-indiennes/adhesions/adhesion-ajei-1> For technical support write to: ajei.office@gmail.com

Participation in the workshop is free of cost.

Submission Guidelines & Timeline:

Abstracts should be no longer than 500 words and must include:

Title of the paper.

Name(s) and institutional affiliation(s) of the author(s).

A brief biography (50–100 words).

NB: File name must be sent following this format: “Name_Surname_Abstract2025”

Please send your abstracts to ajei.office@gmail.com by 30.12.2024. Selected participants will be notified by the AJEI committee by 13.01.2025

We look forward to receiving your submissions and fostering a lively exchange of ideas and research that will shape the future of Indian Studies.