NLIU JOURNAL FOR LEGISLATIVE DRAFTING AND PARLIAMENTARY RESEARCH

CALL FOR PAPERS

After the successful release of the third edition of NLIU - Journal for Legislative Drafting and Parliamentary Research (JLDPR), the Centre for Parliamentary Studies, NLIU (CPS) is pleased to announce that it is now accepting submissions for Volume IV of the JLDPR.

ABOUT THE NATIONAL LAW INSTITUTE UNIVERSITY, BHOPAL (NLIU)

NLIU is amongst the nation's premier law schools. The University constantly strives to enhance the legal landscape of the country. It aims to contribute towards national development by instilling a sense of responsibility within the student community while at the same time cultivating a spirit of intellectual freedom, qualities of leadership and imaginative power.

ABOUT THE CENTRE FOR PARLIAMENTARY STUDIES

The Centre has been established with the objective of promoting advanced learning in constitutional law, public policy research, and legislative drafting. CPS seeks to engage itself in academic discourse and research projects on contemporary public policy issues. The Centre also aims to become an instrumental organization in the holistic development of the Indian legal system by aiding the participants in acquainting themselves with important aspects of the profession.

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Journal is an annual, double-blind, peer-reviewed publication of CPS. It aims to generate interest in the realm of constitutional law, administrative law, and public policy research. The Journal fosters academic discussions on areas related to constitutional law, administrative law, parliamentary studies and public policy. The foreword for our inaugural edition was written by Justice Sanjay Karol, Judge, Supreme Court of India. The inaugural edition of the Journal was released on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of the founding of NLIU by the Director of the National Judicial Academy, Justice A.P. Sahi.
